McMillen-Grubmeyer
Bout Will Headline
Libertyville Event

Pair Who "Stole the Show" from "The Angel" to Meet Again

Professional wrestling, long rated as one of Lake county's leading sports entertainments, will make its first stand in Libertyville in the past five years when Jim McMillen, Lake county's favorite son and prominent as a world's champion contender, tangles with the highly touted bad man of wrestling, "Gorilla" Grubmeyer, in the main event of an all-star card to be presented by the Libertyville Young Men's club in the high school gym, Thursday night, May 16.

The Young Men's club is sponsoring the mammoth sports attraction to raise funds for the construction of a lighted baseball and athletic field in that town.

Several months ago the Angel, wrestling's horror man, appeared in the feature attraction of a charity mat card in Waukegan. While the Angel's match was supposed to have been the whole show, the semi-windup just preceding the highly publicized feature, stole that show. In that semi-windup, Jim McMillen and Gorilla Grubmeyer battled half an hour to a draw in one of the wildest affairs ever witnessed by a sports crowd in Lake county history.

For 30 minutes the pair slugged, butted, slammed, and drop-kicked each other into battered pulp, and when the bell rang halting the time-limit fray the referee was forced to declare the match an even thing. Pop-eyed mad addicts cheered themselves hoarse and roared for the referee to let the match continue. According to the rules of the state athletic commission, the semi-windup was limited to 30 minutes, so the referee was left with no alternative than to leave the verdict stand as a draw.

Now the pair will meet in Libertyville over the longer 60 minute route, and those who witnessed the Waukegan bout are convinced that one or the other will be carried out of the ring before the final bell.

The Young Men's club announces popular prices will prevail.

Community Party Has Good Attendance

Dancing and Cards Attract Many to Recreation Affair Here

Good attendance on both the old-time and modern dance floors marked the "Community Party" held in Antioch Township High school Saturday evening under the auspices of the Recreation association. About 200 took part.

A dozen tables of cards were also in play.

A particularly fine exhibit of recreation handicraft work was one of the special features of the affair. Corner shelves, mats and birdhouses were some of the articles that attracted the most interest. The exhibition was arranged under the charge of Edwin Kapsa, local recreation instructor.

As has been the custom in the past, various local groups co-operated in putting on the affair.

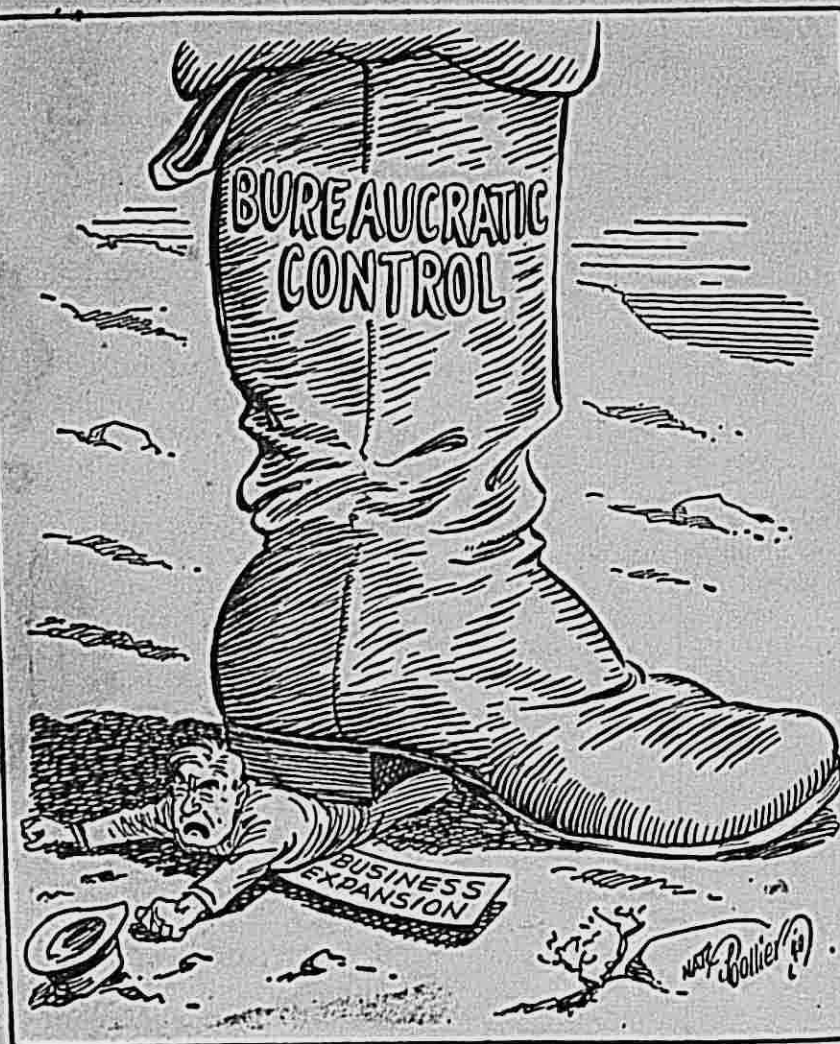

Antioch 4-H girls were in charge of the checking. Refreshments were served under the charge of the St. Peter's Altar society, with Mrs. W. A. Biron as chairman. Mrs. Arthur Trieger headed the Eastern Star committee which arranged for the card play.

Smitty's orchestra furnished music for the old-time dancing, and the Antioch High School swing band, under the direction of Hans Von Holwede, played for modern dancing.

The Antioch Recreation committee, which had general charge of the party, consists of Fred Hawkins, chairman; Mrs. E. J. Hays, Mrs. H. B. Gaston, Mrs. R. E. Mann, Dr. R. D. Williams, R. J. Wilton, R. E. Clabaugh and Elmo Edwards.

Proceeds will be used for carrying on the children's summer recreation activities in Antioch.

THE TYRANT'S HEEL

Co. Methodist Ladies' Meeting May be Final One

Antioch Church Is Host to Annual Spring Event; Set- up May Be Changed

What may be the last annual spring meeting of Lake County Methodist women under the old set-up was that held in the Antioch church all-day Friday with 110 delegates from all parts of the county in attendance.

The various branches of the Methodist denomination have consolidated, it is pointed out by Mrs. W. C. Petty, president of the Antioch Ladies' Aid, which was hostess to the gathering. Under the new arrangement, no provision has been made for such meeting and nothing definite will be known in the matter until after the national Methodist conference to be held in Atlantic City in June.

The Methodist women's spring and fall meetings have been held annually in Lake county for the past six or eight years.

Present county officers will continue to serve through the summer, pending further arrangements.

The challenge which changing conditions present to Methodism was discussed by the Rev. W. B. Waltrine of Libertyville as the principal speaker of the afternoon.

Reports and discussions on Methodist women's work in various fields occupied the morning session, and a noon luncheon was served in the church dining room.

Plans for the spring meeting of the Rock River conference group, May 28 in St. John's church, Chicago, were announced. Mrs. E. H. Petrie, of Evanston, first vice-president of the conference, brought conference greetings; the response was given by Mrs. Paul Cable of Batavia, second vice-president.

Mrs. Petty Gives Welcome
Mrs. L. J. White of Waukegan, president of the Lake County Methodist women's organization, introduced the general theme of the day, "Change Challenges Methodist Women." Mrs. Petty, who holds the office of second vice-president in the county organization, besides being the local Aid president, gave the address of welcome. Mrs. Walter Lightbody of Libertyville, recording secretary, responded on behalf of the visitors.

Others taking part in the day's program included Mrs. Peter Turco of North Chicago, who led the morning devotions; Miss Ella Ames, who gave a brief history of the Antioch church; Mrs. David E. Cruca of Grayslake, who led a forum on "Women's Christian Service," assisted by presidents of the Antioch, Grayslake, Lake Bluff, Lake Villa, Libertyville, North Chicago, North Prairie, Waukegan, Zion, Yorkhouse and Ingleside women's groups; students of the Antioch High school music department and their instructor, Hans Von Holwede; Mrs. Eleanor Kufalk, organist.

Miss Mabel Best of Chicago and Miss Mary Gordon, Lake Bluff, reported on deaconess' work. Mrs. Arthur Krugger, Chicago, spoke on the work of the Chicago Church federation.

The Rev. W. C. Henslee, pastor of the Antioch Methodist church, gave the closing benediction. Mrs. Henslee led the noon-tide prayer.

Miss Grace Drom has returned from Rochester, Minn.

Driver Strike Triples Intake of Milk at Antioch Dairy Plant

The milk driver's strike in Chicago has had repercussions in Antioch, it is revealed by Sam Lerner, of the Antioch Dairy plant.

The plant is now taking in three times its normal amount of milk, says Lerner.

The Farmer's Milk Company which operates the plant is not taking advantage of the situation, Lerner reports, but is paying for this milk at the regular price, as set by the milk market administrator.

It is able to do this because it supplies county institutions and hospitals, which have been especially exempted from the strike.

Aside from this emergency intake of extra milk, the plant is making considerable gains in its normal intake. Its business has doubled since its opening two months ago, Lerner states.

Council Issues Six Liquor Licenses

Action on Appointment of Marshal Deferred to May 7

The issuing of liquor licenses for the coming year was the principal matter that occupied the village board at a meeting Monday evening. Licenses were issued to the five taverns operating the village and to the Antioch Liquor store.

Neither Reeves' nor King's drug store will sell packaged liquor this year, it is announced by their managements. The Antioch restaurant, which has held a license permitting it to deal only in beer, is as yet undecided whether to apply for a renewal or not.

Licenses for regular taverns are $300; for stores dealing in packaged liquors, $150, and for those dealing in beer only, $100.

The matter of choosing a new marshal has been deferred by the board to its meeting of Tuesday evening, May 7.

The choosing of a suitable marshal—one who will satisfactorily represent Antioch in contacts with the public, including summer visitors, as well as conduct his other duties in responsible fashion—is felt by the council to be a matter needing careful consideration.

Money "for Rent"

The banks of this country have plenty of money "for rent"—to persons with a legitimate purpose in mind, and with the necessary qualities of character, experience and probity.

Furthermore, that money can be "rented" on more favorable terms than at any time in the past. Interest rates are extraordinarily low. And for certain kinds of loans, extremely generous repayment terms can be arranged.

Few of us realize the extent to which banking has bettered its service to the public in recent years. Every effort has been given to meeting the sound needs of the small borrower no less than the large. Many banks now make personal loans at modest interest rates, thus saving borrowers from becoming the prey of unscrupulous "loan sharks." Other banks have gone into automobile financing on a wide scale. Others advance funds on favorable terms to homebuilders.

There is no justification in the old complaint that bankers are skinflints, who delight in nothing so much as saying "No!" to the prospective borrower. Banks today advertise for business, and seek it in every possible manner. When they say "No!" to a borrower, there's a reason for it—either legal strictures, or the tenets of safe and sound banking make it impossible to grant the request.

Yes, there's money "for rent"—billions of it. No one with a legitimate need has to worry about being able to obtain necessary funds. * * *

Boring from Within Again

If any department of this government has been free of political influences, it is the Federal Bureau of Investigation. That is a testimonial to the integrity of the various attorney generals who have had charge of the Bureau—and to its Director, J. Edgar Hoover.

The department has done more to reduce and punish serious crime in this country than any other agency—whether or not the crimes were committed by men of high or low station, by men without influence or men with great pull. And that fact may have something to do with the current campaign to "smear Hoover" and his department. Left-wing organizations have joined the hunt in full cry. However, the smear technique seems to have deflated like a suddenly punctured tire.

It was charged that the FBI made a general practice of wire-tapping—yet not a single provable instance has been produced. It has been charged that the FBI mistreated some persons recently arrested in Detroit, charged with the Federal crime of soliciting Army volunteers for a foreign belligerent nation—yet it has since been found that mistreatment, if it actually happened, occurred after the prisoners were turned over to local authorities, as the law provides. So it goes, down the list.

As Boake Carter has written, "The squawks come mostly from groups whose activities are now being successfully uncovered for the first time. So the 'smear' tactics are out in full force to confuse the public and bring disrepute to one Government bureau that simply refuses to play politics—or favorites—or to be bought."

The "smeared" use insinuation, half-truths and downright misrepresentations. Fortunately, the people seem to have seen through this—as has Attorney General Jackson, Mr. Hoover's chief, who has given him a clean slate. More power to the FBI. * * *

Have a Safe Summer

Summer isn't far away. And the coming of that pleasant season means, to most of us, vacations, adventures in the out-of-doors, work about the house and garden, and a generally happy and healthful time.

We can do much to assure happiness and healthfulness by doing our part to fight summer fire hazards this year. Each change of season brings new dangers. Uncut dry grass in a vacant lot, combined with a carelessly disposed cigar butt, may mark the starting point of a holocaust that will destroy lives and property. And a vacationist's carelessness with a campfire may result in the razing of thousands of acres of magnificent timberland which Nature spent centuries in creating.

Every town should adopt a "clean-up" campaign during the summer months. Old shacks, prime breeding places of fire, should be razed. Garages and homes should be painted. And the utmost care should be taken with any and all flammable materials.

There's one more little task that every householder should perform in summer, in the interest of comfort as well as safety. That is to put the heating plant into prime condition before next winter brings its demands for warmth. Don't trust heating plant repairs to yourself or another amateur. Have them done by an expert, who knows his job—the money spent may pay tremendous dividends.

Have a good time this summer. And as one step toward that goal, keep the dangers of fire everlastingly in mind.

ISAIAH GIVES GOD'S INVITATION

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 55:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.—Isaiah 55:6.

Thirsty? A thousand signboards will tell you what to drink to refresh yourself. Most of the suggestions are there only to get your money, and often their proffered lift is a push downward and their refreshment is only a prelude to destruction. But they do declare that thirst is universally present. Throughout the Bible thirst is used to express man's need of and longing for God. He is a spiritual being made in the likeness and image of God and intended for fellowship with Him. Never will he be fully satisfied until he comes to God and meets his heavenly thirst with that "which is by the."

"Mr. invitation of Isaiah is present, and for the figure of a purchase, saying, 'ye, buy.' In carrying out his family thought, we suggest that there are four steps in buying and using anything.

I. Listen (v. 1).

"Ho, everyone that thirsteth." This is as Spurgeon says "the cry of a salesman at a fair." Amid the confusing sounds and disturbing sights surrounding his customer the salesman must make himself known and catch the interest of his customer. The latter must listen to the offer and the recommendation of the things for sale.

This is an unusual offer. Isaiah invites the buyer to make his purchase "without money and without price."

III. Buy (vv. 6-9).

Penniless, the sinner may "buy" without money. He may call upon God, for God has already called him. He may seek God, because He like the good shepherd has been out seeking the lost sheep (Matt. 18:12).

While man can certainly not save himself, there are things which God expects the sinner to do. First, he is to "seek the Lord." Where? Right at your side, sinner, for "he is near" (v. 6). Then when the sinner meets the Lord he is at once conscious of his sin. What shall he do with it? Forsake it in both thought and deed (v. 7) and God will "abundantly pardon." Observe that men may by their sinful rejection of Him bring themselves to the place where they not only do not listen to God's call, but actually do not want to hear it. "Se ye the Lord while he may be found" (v. 6).

IV. Enjoy (vv. 10, 11).

Sonie foolish folk buy things and put them away where neither they nor anyone else can enjoy them. Some worry so much about the price they paid or are so concerned about the preciousness of the thing purchased that they find no pleasure in using it.

Salvation is not a thing to be hidden or put on a shelf. In fact, it is not a thing at all, but a life. It is to grow, to bud, to blossom and to bear fruit. How? By being ready to receive God's Word which comes down like the rain from the heavens, refreshing, encouraging, and fruitifying the life of the believer.

God's Word never returns to Him void. He prospers it to accomplish His own purpose. But pray tell me, if we never study it or even read it, how can it help our lives? We "grow in grace" only as we grow "in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" (II Pet. 3:18). We grow in knowledge as we study God's Word. Thus we come to enjoy our Christian life.

Healing Powers

GUARD AGAINST HOG CHOLERA

Although more than thirty years have elapsed since scientists discovered that hog cholera was due to a virus this dreaded contagion of swine still ranks as the hog industry's most important menace. For example over 14,600 swine carcasses were condemned last year at federally inspected packing plants because they were infected with cholera virus.

The 6,262 outbreaks reported throughout the country in 1939—2,000 more than the year before—do not really tell the story of cholera ravages.

Typical cholera-sick hogs. Note weakness, and hogs piling up.

for countless droves were handled locally without being reported to authorities.

All too often almost complete loss of a valuable herd of hogs occurs because the owner mistakenly thinks that a beginning sickness in the drove is due to a feeding error, to a change in the weather or to some other cause. Then when skilled help is obtained the virus may have spread so quickly that salvage is impossible.

Any time that one or more pigs in an unvaccinated herd hide in the bedding and show little inclination to eat; when they walk with a weak, staggering gait and show diarrhea, or when their eyelids gum shut... then it is high time to stop guesswork on what is wrong and immediately get a skilled veterinarian to ferret out the true cause of the trouble.

Cholera CAN be whipped. This has been demonstrated year after year in countless townships throughout the swine belt. For, where all pigs in a given area are properly immunized at or soon after weaning time, cholera losses rarely get a running start, and each immune drove serves as a living barrier against an invasion of the virus.

If every swine raiser will cooperate with his local veterinarian in seasonal immunization of all pigs the current twenty million dollar a year loss from hog cholera can be soon made a thing of the past.

gift to every cow owner. But grass and grain ration to keep cows in good shires. As the season advances and grass loses more and more of its stimulation, the amount of mixed grain ration fed should be increased enough to hold up production.

Heavier Feeding

When pastures become burned and dried up, something extra must be fed in addition to the mixed grain ration to hold up production. For this job it is recommended that each cow be given one gallon of Purina Bulky Las morning and night. This feed is very palatable, laxative, and supplies some of the nutrients that dried-up pastures lack. Hardly enough can be said about the milk-producing qualities of Bulky Las on dried-up pastures. Fed with the regular mixed grain ration the cows are getting, it does a splendid job.

Worse Than Bombs? Yes, Says Doctor

Raucous, brass-voiced air raid sirens, like this one in Sydney, Australia, are blamed by Dr. Edward Toulouse, president of the French league of mental hygiene, for a rise in mental disorders. Dr. Toulouse, adviser to the French ministry of public health, advocates softer-voiced alarms lest France become a nation of nervous wrecks. Effects of the present sirens, he says, are worse than bombing.

Springtide of Spiritual Joy

IN AN exquisite passage in the Song of Solomon, the "beloved" sings (2:10-12): "Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away. For, lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and gone; the flowers appear on the earth; the time of the singing of birds is come." However variously this passage may have been interpreted, we may perhaps be permitted to see in it, for us, a hint of the call of divine Love to love in the human heart to awake from the dream of life in matter, to see the ever-appearing freshness and beauty of true being. Among the seasons, each of them bringing its wealth of beauty and variety, spring is thought of by many, especially by those who are acquainted with the rigors of winter, as the season eloquently illustrative of the awakening of new hopes, aspiration, courage, and inspiration.

Mary Baker Eddy, who was a lover of nature in its various forms, in a beautiful article, "Voices of Spring," in "Miscellaneous Writings" has written (p. 329), "Spring is my sweet heart," using a metaphor which points to the ever-awakening of love, of gentleness, tenderness, sympathy; and she adds that its "voices are sad or glad, even as the heart may be; restoring in memory the sweet rhythm of unforgetten harmonies, or touching tenderly its fearful tones." Thus does love mingle with love in all the sympathetic interests of the human experience. How the ever-recurring expression of love, in families and among friends, sweetens human lives, brightening the heart's harmonious meditations! Are they not easily likened to the return of springtime, after the long chill of winter? And even in those climates where summer abides through most of the year, the loveliness of the verdure only more continuously reminds one that "flowers appear on the earth; and the time of the singing of birds is come."

So, in our daily experiences, even though at times there may seem to be the chilling clouds of depression, the voice of Love is ever calling to spiritual sense, "Rise up, my love, my fair one, and come away," and in obeying the call we shall "come away" from the dream of life and intelligence in matter, away from the beliefs of mortal discords, and see, through enlightened spiritual vision that "flowers appear on the earth," that in every experience we may rejoice in the beauty and the harmony of the real and eternal. There is no dearth of beauty, freshness, and goodness in the reality of spiritual living, no lack or loss, no chilling discords, no absence of Love and its loveliness.

If, however, in the dream of material experience, there seems to be some reason for sadness, then indeed "the time of the singing of birds" is come; then should we lift our hearts in songs of gratitude for the ever-present harmony of real being, of life in infinite divine Love.

How swiftly "the long winter of our discontent" melts into the springtide of joy and gladness, when we obediently respond to the call of Love, "Rise up, my love, my fair one," for love, reflecting Love, God, is indeed fair and beautiful, peace-bringing and satisfying! Now, what is one to do about the difficulties, the wrongs, the sorrows, which seem ever to haunt the footsteps of the human family? In the article mentioned above, Mrs. Eddy refers to these things and to the lessons in spiritual overcoming to be gleaned from them, and she asks (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 331): "When downtrodden like the grass, did it make them humble, loving, obedient, full of good odor, and cause them to wait patiently on God for man's rich heritage—dominion over all the earth? Thus abiding in Truth," she assures us, "the warmth and sunlight of prayer and praise and understanding will ripen the fruits of Spirit, and goodness will have its springtide of freedom and greatness."

"Probation After Death" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 28.

The Golden Text was, "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands" (Psalms 138:8).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead? If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept" (I Corinthians 15:12, 19, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus' unchanged physical condition after what seemed to be death was followed by his exaltation above all material conditions; and this exaltation explained his ascension, and revealed unmistakably a probationary and progressive state beyond the grave. Jesus was the way; that is, he marked the way for all men" (p. 40).

THE TONGUE

"The boneless tongue, so small and weak,

Can crush and kill," declared the Greek.

"The tongue destroys a greater horde," The Turk asserts, "than does the sword."

The Persian proverb wisely saith, "A lengthy tongue, an early death." Or sometimes takes this form instead, "Don't let your tongue cut off your head."

"The tongue can speak a word whose speed," Says the Chinese, "outstrips the steed."

While Arab sages thus impart, "The tongue's great storehouse is the heart."

From Hebrew with the maxim sprung, "Though feet should slip, ne'er let the tongue."

The sacred writer crowns the whole, "Who keeps his tongue doth keep his soul."

—By Philip Burroughs Strong.

"To speak wisely may not always be easy but not to speak ill requires only silence," says an unknown author. Calvin Coolidge has said, "I have not been injured by the things I did not say."

A good rule between two friends is that when they part, they should look up each other's secrets and exchange keys.

Civil War Poet

During the second year of the Civil war the wounding of his brother in the battle of Fredericksburg led Walt Whitman to volunteer as an army nurse and he served until the close of the war, in Washington and Virginia. The literary results of his experiences were "Drum Taps" and "Memorandah During the War," made up of letters written to the New York Times. His letters to his mother during the war were posthumously printed in 1898 under the title of "The Wound Dresser."

Hot Foot Hindoos

Nearly 100 Hindoos, including one woman, walked across a large pit of red hot embers at the Sri Marimman temple in Singapore recently, watched by a number of Europeans and 4,000 Hindoos. So great was the heat from the pit that the men raking it with 10-foot poles were constantly cooled with buckets of water.

It is planned to establish a permanent Lake county committee which will consist of one representative each from the various communities, with two representatives from the larger centers of population, as Waukegan, North Chicago.

Mrs. Elms represented the Antioch Business and Professional Women and the P. T. A., and Mrs. Anderson represented the local Eastern Star chapter.

Exploding Shrapnel

The name shrapnel is applied to the explosive shells used in field guns. It is named for its inventor, Henry Shrapnel of the British army. In 1803 his shot case or shell was recommended for adoption into the service and in the following year was first employed at Surinam. Shrapnel also improved the construction of howitzers and mortars and invented the brass tangent slide. In 1837 he was promoted to be lieutenant general.

The Observer

If some of our readers don't come across with some contributions pretty doggone soon, we'll have to get busy and write this stuff ourself. Which would be tough, what with spring fever coming on and everything.

That reminds us, some Observer items that should have been in around Christmas time were just unearthed the other day, having been withheld at the time on accounts no room. We hate to hold out on you, folks, but we're firmly resisting the temptation to use any of 'em. Including the one about the guy that was pinch-hitting for Santa Claus, and in an absent-minded moment forgot about his cotton whiskers and lit up a stogie. Thereby reminding the Antioch fire dept. to issue a warning about the hazards of Xmas.

Well, as we chronicle the step-by-step advance of spring, we see where some crocuses and hyacinths have finally poked their noses up above the ground. And the farmers hereabouts are busy dragging and seeding their fields, quite unconcerned with the picturesque or poetic aspects of the thing. Probably wondering if they put enough "gold" on them that fields to insure a good crop, rather than what sort of a striking picture they and their teams present against the landscape. There seems to be a certain essential dignity connected with the tillage of the soil. Even the horses appear conscious of it. Wonder if horses take a sort of pride in their work? Some of them almost seem to. Others are on the lazy side. Resembling us humans, you might say.

If this wave of benefits, programs, entertainments and what-ever-they-calls that has engulfed Antioch lately, doesn't ease off pretty soon, the people around here are going to be in no frame of mind to enjoy any summer loafing—which most of 'em don't get time to do much of anyway.

Looking up and down Main street early this week, a person is apt to agree with Mayor George B. Bartlett on this town's need for a clean-up week. We saw Joseph Panowski doing his bit Tuesday noon by snagging a few sheets of flying paper before they could blow further down the street, and wished we had enough civic spirit to do likewise. A paper-littered Main street is a heck of an advertisement for a good-looking town. It isn't the street department's fault, either—they've been doing their share to keep it clean. But the street is no place to throw old posters, circulars, wrappings, sections of newspaper and so on. Maybe a couple of municipal garbage cans on street corners would be a solution. We don't know.

Well, it looks as though the snow that didn't arrive in time for last Christmas sure managed to drop in for May Day. And a lot of mamas did a lot of scurrying around to dig their kids' snow-suits out of the moth-balls to which they were recently banished. Instead of going out to hang May-baskets, the youngsters probably wanted to know if they could go out and make snow balls.

Hal Hazen, in his Lake county column in the Waukegan News-Sun, bemoans the dearth of so-called "rest rooms" in public parks and beaches. It may be that as yet a sufficient number of visitors to these places have not become tired. When they do—well, the rest room situation will take care of itself—automatically. Some smart guy (not Confucius) said that necessity is the mother of invention.

Rotnour Players to Close Season Tonight

The J. B. Rotnour players will close their 1939-40 season here with the presentation of "Sunset Trail," this evening on the stage of the Crystal Theatre.

Plans are now being made by "J. B." for the company's annual northern tour through Wisconsin and upper Michigan.

This evening's presentation is a western comedy drama especially leased by Rotnour for his territory, Carroll Yor, a new member of the troupe, will supplement the cast taking part.

Jimmy Parsons and his "laughing sax," Margaret Peachey, who will present a wooden shoe clog dance, and Dorothy LaVerne, singer, are to be featured in the vaudeville.

The company's presentation here, each Thursday evening have been sponsored by Antioch business firms, which have made it possible for the troupe to charge only a nominal admission price.

The theatre doors will open at 7:30 p. m. daylight saving time for tonight's performance, with the curtain rising at 8:15.

Village Truck Makes Big Haul for "Clean-up Week"

Antioch's village truck hauled away eight or ten loads of trash Tuesday as a fitting inaugural to "Clean-up Week," Village President George B. Bartlett reports.

"The truck will make the rounds of the village from time to time," he announces, "and if anyone else has additional material to dispose of, it will pick it up."

"While 'Clean-up Week' will end officially this week-end, Mayor Bartlett and the village council urge all residents to co-operate in having the village present an attractive appearance to lakes region visitors.

Bring Suit over Crash

An auto-train crash May 29, 1938, in which five young people lost their lives, is the basis for $40,000 in death claims filed against the railroad. Cecilia Hookstra, Antioch; Virginia Miller, Wadsworth road; Bessie Rittenhouse, Zion; Paul Wesner, and Robert Jackson, Waukegan, were those who died. A sixth member of the party, John Wood, Waukegan, was injured but recovered. The young people were returning from a dance at Antioch when they crashed into the side of a freight train moving south on the North Western tracks west of Zion, on Route 173.

The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston

Dean, Schools of Business
International Correspondence Schools

ANY organization manned entirely by older men tends to dry up and to go to seed. Older men get set in their ways and become less progressive. Forward looking young men build business for they are alert to new ideas.

An enviable characteristic of youth is its dissatisfaction with outmoded processes and antiquated equipment. During the last few years more effective filing systems, more effective records, and more effective office machines and equipment have been made available. Yet in many offices the files, records and equipment in use are out of date.

The streamlining of production in the United States has gone forward to such a point that our manufacturing processes are the envy of the world. But in many of our greatest industries there has been no corresponding development in office practice. Because of the lack of office planning, because of the failure to study office procedures, and because of the use of out of date machines and equipment, most office clerks perform hundreds of useless motions each day.

A recent study conducted in the office of a large public utility showed that if every item was placed within the reach of clerks, so that they would not have to stoop, bend or turn around, the average typist, file clerk, mail clerk, etc., could do the work of three persons whose work spaces were not rearranged.

'round the Lakes

Shunneson's resort on the east side of Grass lake, off Highway 59, is sending out attractive little folders with a sketch of the resort and a road map done in pen-and-ink style.

A jolly good time, with eats, music and dancing, is promised by Mr. and Mrs. Edw. A. Knickelbein as they invite folks out for their annual season's opening at Herman's Resort, Bluff lake. The opening is set for Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19.

Thal Rush, the "old piper," and his orchestra are playing at the Pikeville dance hall, Route 45 and State Line road, every Saturday evening commencing May 4. . . . They're having fish fries there on Friday, Joe Green, proprietor, announces.

Dominic, the genial host at the State Line Inn on Highway 21-83, just north of Antioch, entertained at a birthday party Saturday evening. . . . and received considerable praise from guests over the fine appearance of his newly-decorated food and refreshment emporium.

The Round-up dining room and bar on Highway 21 just south of Antioch, held its "Grand Spring Opening" Saturday evening, with a good-sized crowd present. Al's Clown band played for the dancing and provided entertainment. The baked ham and potato salad, and the stuffed cabbage that headlined the menu provided under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Mueller made a decided hit with the customers. . . . as did also the music of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew E. Ireland are featuring dancing each Saturday evening at their Lone Oak Inn on Highway 59 at Petite Lake. French's show, of Chicago, entertained this past Saturday night. . . . The Irelands pride themselves on their popular plate lunches and dinners, served at all times.

Pitzen's Camp on Pitzen's Bay off Pistakee lake, and Bill Merte's Oak Park Hotel, on the shore line at the mouth of Pistakee bay, are among the resorts that have issued attractive looking map folders.

Louis Nielsen of Nielsen's Barbecue on Routes 59 and Grass Lake road, an ardent sportsman, aided in the release of pheasants freed by the Illinois State Conservation department near Antioch and Fox Lake last Wednesday.

Glycerine Repairs Glass Scratches
Disfiguring scratches on a glass table-top, if they are not too deep, can usually be removed without difficulty by a paste of glycerine, water and iron oxide. Dip a hard felt pad in the paste and rub briskly back and forth over the scratched surface until the markings have disappeared. This procedure is especially adapted to removing shallow scratches. Deep gouges, however, require more specialized treatment. Many polishing materials used in mechanical methods utilize glycerine as an essential ingredient.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New German Troop Movements Threaten Sweden's Neutrality; Norway's Battlefront Widened

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union

THE WAR:

Two Million Men

As the British government announced that the empire "now has 2,000,000 men under arms" military experts were speculating as to how many of this number had landed in Norway, current theater of World War II. There was terrific fighting in Norway and Norwegian coastal waters, that much was sure. But conflicting reports from London, Berlin and Stockholm clouded the picture.

Nazi official sources admitted for the first time that their forces had clashed with allied troops on Norwegian soil. Direct combat was centered around Steinkjer, where it appeared the British had been routed, and around the "gateway" to Oslo, a strategic valley north of that city.

It was in this sector near the city of Dombas that Robert Losey, U. S. military air attaché, was killed during a German air raid. He was hit in the heart by a bomb splinter as he stood near a mountain tunnel being used for air raid protection.

Around Oslo itself, guerilla warfare was in progress. Small bands of the scattered Norwegian forces teamed up with British troops and staged periodic raids upon points held by the Germans. Germans claimed to be beating off these attacks and said they were pushing their outposts further into the interior.

British air patrols were busy raining bombs on German, Danish and Norwegian coastal bases of the Nazi air force in desperate efforts to cut off homeland communications and supplies of troops. Meanwhile German officials claimed that England was attacking non-military objects and threatened reprisals—they feared bombing of open villages and towns.

Digging In

At home, allies and Germans alike were taking measures to strengthen the home front. While Germans pulled in their belts another notch with more restricted rations being effected, England launched a salvage campaign similar to the Nazi requests for scrap iron. (See cut.) Staging an "Old Iron Day," the British government asked for scrap metal of every description. And they got it. Bedsteads, stoves, perambulators and washing machines were among the thousands of articles tossed into the melting pot to become sinews of war.

England also announced a new budget and imposed a host of new taxes and levies.

CONGRESS:

Slush

Seeking the aid of G-men, the senate campaign investigating committee is opening up inquiries into complaints of "slush" funds and other political misbehavior in five states—Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Maryland and West Virginia. Chairman Gillette, Democrat of Iowa, omitted to name the source of the complaints but ordered investigators to check reports he had received.

As far as West Virginia was concerned there was no secret about the complaint source, for that state's Senator Neely (Democrat) stated he had requested the inquiry to "prevent the statehouse machine from debauching and corrupting the elections with the use of money and whiskey." Neely is a candidate for governor this year.

In Nebraska, recent primary election expenditures were to be checked; Missouri investigators would look for evidence of improper use of funds in that state's senatorial race and another race for the senate was being reviewed in Maryland. Investigators had already returned from Kansas with reports of their findings on reported "improper use of state patronage" in connection with selecting Republican convention delegates. Public hearings on this investigation have been scheduled to get under way within two weeks.

NEUTRALS:

Baltic Barometer

Ever since the Nazi war machine showed its teeth to their Norwegian neighbors the Swedish people have been hoping that their land will not be the eventual battlefield of the Scandinavian campaign. Vowing to "fight for neutrality" Swedish officials now have received reports that German troops and arms are being embarked from Nazi controlled ports directly across the Baltic from Sweden's shores. Some sources believed the troops were bound for Norway, but with the ships were ice-breaking vessels and it is Sweden's ports—not Norway's—that are still winter-blocked.

ORIENT:

Inevitable?

After Secretary of State Hull made it clear recently that the status quo must be maintained in the Dutch East Indies and Japan politely agreed, it appeared that for a while at least, Uncle Sam could relax his vigilance in that sector just a bit. But as two warships of the U. S. Asiatic fleet sped northward out of Manila to check on the report that the British navy was spreading its blockade of Germany to Eastern waters, Rear Admiral Joseph K. Taussig was telling the senate naval affairs committee in Washington that war with Japan was inevitable.

Said the admiral: "I cannot see how we can ultimately prevent being drawn into war on account of the Far Eastern situation. We would be warranted in using economic and financial means and, if necessary, force, to preserve the integrity of China."

Admiral Taussig believes that the government at Tokyo has a definite program for world conquest that will some day have to be reckoned with. Such a program, he claims, includes the gobbling up of the Philippines, French Indo-China, the Netherlands Indies, and other sections of the Far East.

Next day, Hamilton Fish, Republican representative from New York, denounced the admiral's statement and told his colleagues that congress should investigate inflammatory speeches of navy officers. He said he believed navy officers thought the only duty of the fleet was to go to war with Japan.

Meanwhile a report came out of Tokyo that German and British diplomats were striving desperately for Japan's "benevolent neutrality" in connection with the present European war. Great Britain is trying to extend her blockade to Pacific waters and keep war materials from the East Indies from reaching Germany via Pacific shipping lanes, the port of Vladivostok, and the trans-Siberian railway.

Commissioner F. C. Harrington told his 2,162,000 WPA employees that they were absolutely free to vote as they pleased. In all current WPA envelopes he enclosed a message which stated: "Voting is your own business, keep it that way. . . . No one can fire you because you do not vote or because you do or do not belong to a political party."

The federal appellate court in New Orleans dissolved an injunction against Georgia's Gov. E. D. Rivers, after he re-instated W. L. Miller as chairman of the state highway commission.

STATIC-OF-THE-WEEK

Fred A. Howe (above), a marine radio operator, told the Dies committee that the Communist party had members aboard several American merchant ships so that "in time of war they could help establish a Soviet system here." He said that some of the employees on these ships were radio operators. Plans call for them to execute Soviet orders from their key positions. Howe also charged that the Communist party controls the American Communications association, C. I. O. operators' union.

TRAGEDY:

Holocaust

Usually it is the feared flood that brings news of disaster from along the banks of the Mississippi, but now fire has made its bid for dishonor in the land of the levee. In a Natchez, Miss., dance hall, 247 Negro men and women were burned to death as racing flames trapped them from all chance of escape—a single doorway.

About 500 persons had been dancing for hours to the swing music of Walter Barnes' Negro orchestra of Chicago, when suddenly the decorative—but dry—Spanish moss that hung from the rafters burst into flame. Survivors said that a mad rush for the door followed as the band continued to play in an attempt to avert a panic. At least eight members of the 12-piece band perished.

Investigation showed that there was but one exit to the hall—the front door. Side windows had been boarded up. Exactly what caused the first flame, formal investigation could not determine.

PRESIDENT:

Visitors' Day

When, late in the summer of 1933, in a speech at Kingston, Ontario, Franklin Roosevelt declared that his country would intervene in Canada's cause should that nation ever be invaded, U. S. citizens were inclined to discount his words, for war in Canada seemed far away.

Now, with Canadian forces backing up Great Britain in Europe's conflict, the picture has changed and as W. L. Mackenzie King, Canadian prime minister, sat down around the conference table with the President in the "Little White House" at Warm Springs, Ga., that Kingston speech stood out with special significance. What was discussed at the conference was not disclosed but one thing seemed sure: Western hemisphere war problems were not neglected.

Before leaving Washington, the President outlined for the Senate a method to help the treasury meet its deficit by reducing capitalization of a few large U. S. spending agencies.

SUPREME COURT:

Pickets

In two opinions the United States Supreme court upheld the right of freedom of speech by declaring unconstitutional laws in Alabama and California which regulated the acts of "peaceful" pickets in industrial strikes. Both leading U. S. labor groups were cheered by the decisions for the cause of each was involved. In Alabama, the American Federation of Labor had challenged a state law regulating pickets which was passed in 1923. In the California case, C. I. O. fought against a 1938 statute, claiming it infringed on freedom of speech. Justice Murphy delivered the opinions and Justice McReynolds dissented.

AGRICULTURE:

Eyes Front

While hog prices were advancing to a new 1940 peak (still nothing to get excited about) wheat, corn and oats futures reached their highest point in 2½ years. Fear of spreading war coupled with reports of short grain crops forecast for Europe's breadbaskets combined to brighten the picture somewhat for American grain producers. At present Canada and Australia hold the largest surplus of wheat.

President McKinley has signed a bill for the form of government of Hawaii. . . The House will take up the Nicaragua canal bill on Tuesday. . . "The credit of rural free delivery belongs almost exclusively to the McKinley administration," says Perry S. Heath, first assistant postmaster general. A movement to broaden the service of the mails was begun by Postmaster General Wanamaker under the administration of General Harrison. . . Since the 4th of March, 1897, nearly 1000,000 rural homes in all parts of the United States have been brought into close touch with the rest of the world by daily visit of the rural postman. Three years' experience has shown that the rural free delivery service costs very little more than the old colonial style of postal service which it supersedes.

Dr. J. Karr, accompanied by his wife and son, visited his patients at the Polyclinic hospital in Chicago on Tuesday. He reports Mrs. Simons able to be around and says Mrs. Bock is getting along finely. He saw the Dewey parade on Michigan avenue. The Youth in Business

By C. E. Johnston

THE youth in business, if he but took about him will find many opportunities to conserve effort and materials. Wasteful motions can often be done away with and waste products converted into valuable materials.

Lignin is an example of a waste product made valuable. Chemists will tell you that lignin is a form of cement that binds the fibers of wood together. Each year pulp mills wash out a million and a half tons of lignin from wood cellulose and the material is poured into our streams and rivers, contaminating the water, destroying the fish, and giving engineers at filtration plants constant headaches.

Now young men in laboratories have discovered that lignin can be recovered by precipitating the product from the water. Other young men will develop useful products which can be made from this material. Lignin is only one example of how waste can be stopped and value created.

While progress has been made on the lignin problem, thousands of other by-products of coal mines, oil wells, metal mines, and manufacturing enterprises are being cast on the dump heap.

Opportunities for youths? Yes, they exist in both business and industry. Under your feet are tons of valuable aluminum, if you could but find an easy and inexpensive method of separating the metal from the

AMERICAN FOUNDATION FOR ANIMAL HEALTH

VITAMINS AND ANIMAL DISEASES

Another great contribution to man's fight against livestock diseases is the great volume of knowledge that is rapidly accumulating with relation to vitamins and their bearing on animal health.

Many diseases which formerly were classed as due to unknown causes are now quickly recognized by veterinarians as due to dietary deficiencies.

For example, a few years ago thousands of young dairy calves died in convulsions during the winter months, from an unknown cause. Today we know that this trouble is largely due to lack of vitamin D (the anti-rickets vitamin), and that a supply of green, leafy alfalfa hay and clover will usually prevent such trouble.

Blacktongue, the fatal dog disease so common in the Southern states, has been identified as a lack of life-giving vitamin G, and some veterinary authorities feel that this particular vitamin is also related to outbreaks of enteritis or bowel disease in swine.

A brain trouble of baby chicks known as "crazy chick disease" has been traced to a deficiency of vitamin B—the anti-sterility vitamin—while a peculiar trouble involving the corners of the beak in young chicks is blamed on lack of a certain vitamin element known as the anti-chick dermatitis factor. Running fits of young dogs are said to be due to a prolonged lack of vitamin B-1, while the so-called "cotton seed" poisoning so often noted in long-fed steers has definitely been classed as vitamin A deficiency and is corrected by a supply of suitable legume hay. Night blindness in animals is also associated with this vitamin, as is resistance of new-born animals to lung and intestinal infections.

But the complexity of all this knowledge of vitamins and their disease relationship is so complicated that counsel of a skilled veterinarian is essential in attempting to diagnose any of the nutritional diseases. Some diseases mistakenly thought to be due to lack of certain vitamins are, in reality, mineral deficiencies and vice-versa. Likewise, some of the infectious diseases, for example swamp fever of horses, closely resemble nutritional deficiencies.

A case of dietary deficiency. All types of livestock and poultry need a balanced diet if they are to thrive.

SLEEPING SICKNESS FORECAST FOR 1940

Not since the mass outbreak of human influenza in world war days has any plague of animal or man been so widespread and disastrous as the nationwide sweep of sleeping sickness among horses during the past several years. Approximately one out of each four among America's hundreds of thousands of horses that contracted the disease, died from it.

Last year over three million head of horses were given the new two-dose chick-embryo vaccine by veterinarians in an attempt to stem the tide. This, and possible other factors, put a very decided "crimp" in occurrence of the disease.

Now countless farmers are debating whether or not it will be advisable to have their horses and mules immunized in 1940, before the summer danger season.

No one knows just what the horse plague virus will do during the summer of 1940. For example, the disease was very light in Colorado during the summer of 1934, only to be followed by heavy losses each following summer up to 1939. One thing is sure, no farmer who went through the disastrous outbreaks of the past several seasons is going to take the chance of leaving his horses unprotected this summer.

It is highly probable that some sections of the country will face bad outbreaks of horse sleeping sickness this summer. And the states which have hitherto not been visited by the disease may also be in grave danger because very little vaccination has been done in these sections and all horses are highly susceptible.

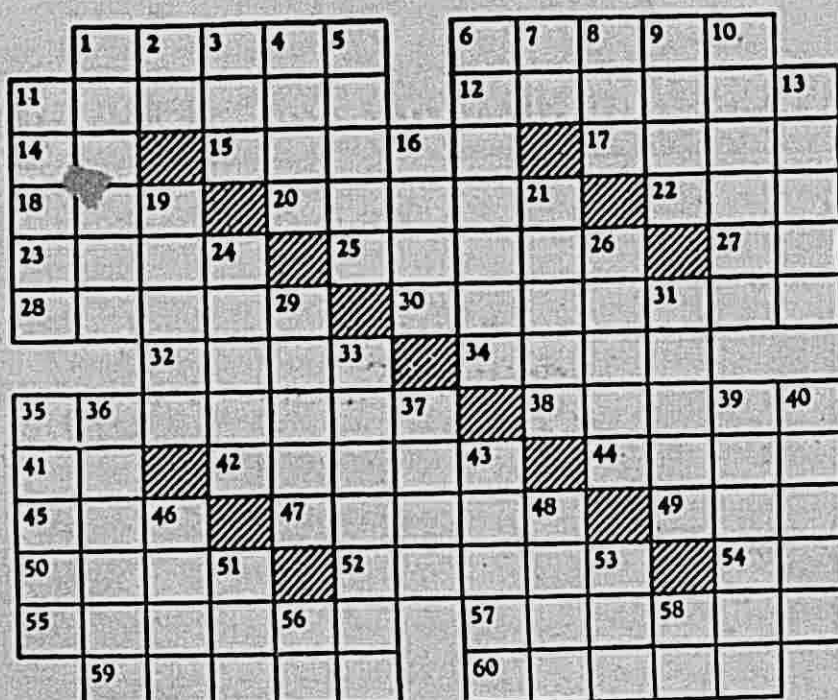

Sleeping sickness in the advanced stage.

When the whole sleeping sickness problem is analyzed carefully, it appears entirely logical to advise that all good horses and mules be again vaccinated prior to the summer danger season.

Horse owners should also remember that if vaccination is delayed until a bad mid-summer outbreak strikes, stocks of vaccine may not be enough to cope with the situation.

TIMING FOR HIGH EGG PRICES

It pays to start your chicks early enough for them to be well developed and ready to lay big eggs during the months of best egg prices—October, November and December. Then it is, according to averages for the past 10 years, that eggs bring 8c to 10c more per dozen than other months of the year.

Babe Ruth at the plate! Those powerful muscles, those quick eyes that knew just the right split second when to "connect" with the ball. You wouldn't think of him as being a professor of poultry husbandry! Certainly not! But he had a great lesson for the chicken growers of this country a lesson in timing.

If we start one or two broods of chicks for layers and both of those in the spring, isn't it sound judgment to select the right time to start them? Shouldn't we start our chicks in relation to the time we want them to come into production? These logical questions are from O. S. Johnson, head of the Poultry Department for Purina Mills.

"500 Hats"

All the children in the fifth grade appeared in the original play, "500 Hats."

Bartholomew Cubbins, played by Bennie Drury, was in a terrible predicament. He couldn't take off his hat before the King, played by Howard Nevitt, because every time he took off one hat another appeared in its place. He was taken before the king's court where Sir Alaric, played by Mary Jean Mapletorpe, and the king called in Sir Snipps, played by Nancy Ellis, Nad, played by Margaret Petschke, father of Nad, played by Doris Heiber, father of father of Nad, played by Bobby Lutterman, Grand Duke Wilfred, by Rollie Burnett, Yeaman of the Bowmen, by Ray Lubkeman, and the magicians, by Delores Story, Barbara Horton, Olga Himens, Mildred Williams, Mabel Norman, and Eleanor Sobey, to help take off Bartholomew's hat, but none of them could.

He was sent to the executioner.
